Cindy Lee Alden began her musical career at the tender age of three with song and dance. At age 21, she joined her first band, then later moved to Maryland where she sang in duos, trios, and a country band, which took her to surrounding states for performances. From 2003 to 2006 she sang backing vocals for international recording artist Ronnie Dove, but now she is stepping into the spotlight. With music promoting the gospel of Jesus Christ that is both compelling and joyful, Cindy Lee Alden has found the perfect mix in her album, A Heart Light As Air.
