Edward Yeo has been playing guitar professionally in area restaurants, events and local clubs since 1978. Starting as a rock guitarist in Stations and moving to 4XY, Edward realized he needed more formal training to realize his full musical potential, so he received jazz guitar instruction and music theory from two local guitar teachers and later became the guitarist for the Wright College Jazz Band, where he was able to use his knowledge in a real jazz situation. Edward taught his first guitar lessons in early 2002 and has kept giving lessons privately, in music stores and for the last three years at the School of Rock. Currently Edward is composing his own music, teaching, collaborating with a partner on a children's music project and playing in a jazz duo.
