Fundamentally Smooth Jazz/ Pop oriented, H. Mack's sound is uniquely mellow. This talented songwriter, bassist, vocalist and producer. He has a style that's just starting to catch on. H. Mack began his formal musical training at Combs College of Music in Philadelphia. He continued studying bass and piano at Settlement music school also located in Philly. With two years as a radio host and owning his own record label "Philadel'fia Records" and Music Publishing Company "Mudada Music". H. Mack is well rounded on both sides of the spectrum. H. Mack launched his solo career January 2003. Always associated with the best Philly has to offer, Mack filled the slot as one of the lead singers with the former Motown recording artists, Ron Thorpe and the Hearts of Stone. Mack also helped launch a spin off project called C4. He also produced several other projects. His music has been heard on the CBS series "Swing Town", "The Young and the Restless" and an independent film entitled "Dance of the Dead". Macks performance is professional seasoned with experience and audience participation.
