Jerry and his band, The Jerry Schmitt Band, have become known as one of the premier country bands in the Midwest. They have made a name for themselves by establishing their own original sound –a blend of modern and traditional country music with a rockabilly influence. Their sound appeals to young and old alike, and their love of performing and dedication to preserving country music makes each of their shows a unique experience for their fans.

Since the release of Jerry's first album, "100 Miles," it has received radio air play not only in his home state of Wisconsin, but internationally in such diverse countries as Australia, Sweden and Romania. The album, consisting exclusively of his own original songs, has drawn rave reviews from people across the United States and abroad.

Some have even referred to it as the best album released in 2008. Jerry recently recorded a gospel album in Nashville and released it in the summer of 2013. He has also begun work on his third album and it is scheduled to be released in the fall of 2014. There is high anticipation from his fans to hear his "sophomore" album, and Jerry has promised that this next album will surpass the expectations of his fans!

Over the years, The Jerry Schmitt Band has opened for numerous national acts including: Joe Nichols, Lee Brice, Randy Houser, John Conley, Cross Canadian Ragweed, the Oak Ridge Boys, Lorrie Morgan, Danielle Peck, David Allen Coe, Merle Haggard, and Joe Diffie.

Jerry and his band have been recognized with many awards and titles over the years, including being crowned the 2007 State Country Band Champions by the HODAG Country Music Festival. In addition to playing at many festivals, The Jerry Schmitt Band has also entertained at dozens of bars, beer tents, county fairs and rodeos across the Midwest.

Jerry and his band have had the opportunity to play in Nashville numerous times at such legendary locales as Tootsie's Orchid Lounge, 12th & Porter, Swinging Doors Saloon, Honky-Tonk Central, and the historic Ryman Auditorium.

The Jerry Schmitt Band consists of an all-star cast of talented musicians that bring an electrifying presence to the stage with many years of experience.
